NEW DESIGNS

Creative Spotlight

Written by L. Foxx on 10/2/2023

These designs are my most recent additions to the linvizion shop. I'm still working on black t-shirt designs for EnviZion due to some difficulty in transferring the full color logo to darker colored materials. Also as promised a united sidewalks t-shirt design is now available. This kind of group could find a place anywhere. Does your community need united sidewalks? Contact us if you need a city specific united sidewalks design and I will make sure it is available in the shop. Our group here in TN is focused on advocating for human propelled transit and also connecting those sidewalks to community resources and revenue streams. Currently we are building awareness by walking on those sidewalks. I seriously can't believe we have a mall a mile away and no connecting sidewalk/pathway. That's my battle. What's your side walk obstacle? Written by Lindsey Foxx 10/2/2023.

FLOWING REFLECTIONS

Written by L. Foxx on 10/04/2023

This painting was first developed to match themes from blues posters which I believe was inspired by the glow of nightlife in musical venues. I hadn't been able to post it for sale in the past due to resolution concerns. Finally got some quality prints up and ready for purchase at full size and even available on tapestry which may give a great mural effect...I myself still have to try ordering one of these so not sure how they turn out quite yet. Hope you all like this one, available on several products now 😊

PROJECTS GALORE

Hobbies And More

Written by L. Foxx 10/5/2023

It seems as if my own projects are never-ending. I've got sewing ears on stuffed toys along with crochet fun things on the agenda for my projects this week. If you would like to write a column or submit pictures of a creative work for fun with public access, please contact us and we will determine potential to publish to the website. If work is accepted, we will provide you with a date for submitting work into EnviZion Current and Columns. If you have an interest in writing frequently, we will consider weekly or monthly hobby artists to join our crew (currently not a paid gig but maybe someday). Please ensure you have rights to any writing or images which you submit. Last updated 10/5/2023.

SECRET GARDEN

Environmental Revitalization

Written by L. Foxx 10/6/2023

Oh the lawn and garden 😊 I am lucky to be able to split this responsibility with my spouse. I did beg to have the back lawn so I can make it into a secret garden. Anyone who knows me knows I do not have a green thumb. I'm battling the odds here hoping to make a beautiful back garden and some day hopefully less grass and more plants. First on the agenda today will be grass cutting as usual and weed pulling. I plan to dream of Mandevilla vines in my archway while doing this. Let's see if wix has a picture that's similar to this beautiful vine flower.

Fire Pit

Whether or Not the Weather

Written by L. Foxx 10/7/2023

I welcome the cold weather down here in the south! It's as if a humid sauna is on during the summer months and then autumn happens, and it becomes spring and fall simultaneously. Couldn't combine two better seasons from my perspective thank you mother nature! You've got our back for sure. The fire was quite perfect last night for the itty bitty chill factor and fun conversation. I think the mosquito's have even taken a break from multiplying. That would be nice! One of my favorite things about a good fire is watching the flames and enjoying the ambiance of nature. We lucked out with these fun color changing additions (see picture). I hope you also have a moment to enjoy something

HEALING

Adventures in Happenstance

Written by L. Foxx 9/3/2023.

We've all got those times when our life outside of work takes over. I am excited to say how thankful we are that our mommo is healing well and moving around great after surgery. How lucky we are to have such great professionals tending to us. We did get hung up a little at the pharmacy this week but since bringing home her ever so important pain medicine it's been smooth sailing for her recovery. She's even got this cool machine that supports movement in the leg that needed surgery.

I have to say I was going to write about the weather again it seriously is worth mentioning this time of year almost daily! The brisk chill in the air has been a long awaited and awesome transition from the heat of summer! It's funny how we have acclimated to the heat (being from the northern states where we are used to negative degrees in winter) we were actually enjoying the 80 degree days as if it were cool outside down here in the south. Writing less as work adventures pick up again on my end. Hoping to still get these columns up as often as possible for those that do read along. Hope your loved ones and weather are doing well too ☺ Sending out love for the current devastating aggressions going on in the world and hoping for peace to come to those suffering as soon as possible <3

SEASONED

Sustenance and Libations

Written by L. Foxx 10/27/23

This blackening seasoning turned out great so I wanted to share! Add it to just about anything for a savory kick. When I used it I added it to a rice dish with brisket green pepper and mushroom medley and it turned out great. You will need to establish your own taste for proportions... compliments of <http://www.vindulge.com> here's the ingredients: I skipped the brown sugar but it's up to you, chili powder, salt, black pepper, oregano, paprika, ground thyme, ground garlic, cayenne pepper, & cumin. I recommend this for pretty much anything you want to give a grilling heat taste. Oh so good!
